Transit-Oriented Development & Regionally Significant Projects
Transit Oriented Development (TOD) is a walkable downtown development concentrated around a main transportation hub such as a LIRR train station that balances urban and suburban living. Regionally Significant Projects feature amenities such as attractive and varied housing options, high quality public spaces, commercial space, and retail all in close proximity.

Bus Rapid Transit
An express bus service offering the high quality amenities of rail service at a fraction of the cost. Bus Rapid Transit (BRT) is faster and more reliable than local bus service and features amenities such as more attractive station shelters, real time service updates, and dedicated bus service infrastructure to keep people moving despite intense traffic.
